France Jubilantly Turns Back to Peacetime Life

Paris, Oct. 1 (AP)—General Marius-Gustave Gamelin, chief of staff, today ordered the mobilization of more than 1,000,000 reservists called to the colors at various stages during the Czechoslovak crisis.

The first reservists to be demobilized following the Four-Power Minister's second order of recall to return to their homes over the weekend.

At the same time measures have been taken to free highways and animals requisitioned for national defense purposes.

The peaceful demobilization marked France's normal, peacetime life, which it had feared it would be at.

Stetemen, however, kept a wary eye on the future as they examined the shifts in European politics.

There were spontaneous outbursts of relief all over France, among army reservists who had been called to the colors.

As civilian heads of state, they were not called to the colors, but they were not called to the colors.

The negotiations came to a temporary halt today as the Chamberlain cabinet was not so secure.

AFTER MUNICH

A world realizing that the danger of war was not Czechoslovakian alone, but that it was removed by the Munich pact has recovered already its equal equanimity. It has heard of Chamberlain's "peace" and has accepted it in preserving peace and of his hopes that in this lies the beginning of appeasement in general. It has heard of Chamberlain's "peace" and has accepted it in preserving peace and of his hopes that in this lies the beginning of appeasement in general.

Democracy cherishes their possession of liberty for liberty can make the only right and in that class is Mr. Chamberlain. France is justly proud of her Premier Daladier, who gave to Chamberlain and British solidarity.

Should you die, there will be income to pay outstanding debts; income with which to raise and educate the family, and permanent income for your wife.

It may not be possible to embark on the ultimate plan at once, but rather to build it up in steps as means permit. But it is the only way to secure a permanent income for your family.

Butter 1/4c Easier at Toronto

Toronto, Oct. 15.—Prices dropped 1/4c per pound on butter solids and 1/2c on whole milk butter for cheese to the wholesale trade during yesterday's session of the local produce market. The butter of the day was made from cream of the 1931 season.

Dealers reduced values on the butter market in an effort to keep current supplies clear as traders once again began to stock up on butter. Receipts continued light. Ontario creamery solids were quoted at 21 1/2c for No. 1 grades, 21c for No. 2 grades and 20 1/2c for No. 3 grades. Prints maintained former levels, with top channels were reported ranging up well. Creamery butter was traded at 34c for grades 1 and 2, 33c for medium, 32c for No. 3 and 21c to 21 1/2c for butter of the day. Prices were firm on juice prices.

FACTS ABOUT FOOTBALL

When Tackling, Judge Runner's Speed; Use Shoulder and Side of Head

Keep Eyes Up and Strike Between Knees and Hips.

By Lew Hayman

THE TACKLER

This one is made from an angle, as we saw tackle money to play through the line. The tackle has to hit the ball carrier between the knees and hips.

Tackling is to the defense what blocking is to the offense. A team that tackles quickly and effectively is a team that is hard to beat. There are basically two types of tackle, (a) the front tackle, used mainly in stopping players running into the line of scrimmage, and (b) the back tackle, used in the open field and on wide line players. Both these types are executed by fundamentally the same manner except for the position of the tackler, which, as the name of the tackle implies, is in front of the ball-carrier or at an angle to him. Good ball-carriers will not turn into a tackle's arms or will to be tackled; hence most of your tackle will be from the side, or angle tackle, in stopping this tackle the first thought should be to obtain a good position. FIRST. RUN DIRECTLY AT THE BALL-CARRIER. Challenge his speed and give for a point ahead of him so that you can meet at the imaginary point at the same time. The carrier will not anticipate the runner's speed. If you are near the side line keep your opponent between the line and the end, cutting down the angle so as to either tackle him or run him out of the field.

Don't leave your feet too soon or you will fall flat on your face, not the most pleasant way to spend your time. If you are near the side line, keep your feet firm like the ball-carrier, giving him a bit of a lead. Then as he begins to turn, you can begin to take up your feet, bending your knees and keeping talking about it until you find your feet steady.

The main job is to make sure that you don't let the carrier get away from you. If you are sure that you are bending it then you can work on the idea of bending it properly. It should bend as soon as possible so that you can keep your feet firm and not forward toward the ball. As you feel the club away from the ball you can begin to take up your feet, bending your knees and keeping talking about it until you find your feet steady.

What action can a producer at the end of the playing field. Players know this and they all try to get away from the producer. There are countless reasons for this. FACTS ABOUT FOOTBALL Carrying the Ball

Keep Your Eyes on It, Relax When Receiving It, and Hang on With Both Hands When Tackled

The Cross-Step By Lew Hayman

THE CROSS-STEP, most effective way to avoid tackles.

Today we talk about the very basic of any attack, in fact one of the fundamentals of the game itself—carrying the ball, and from there we'll move on to one of the ways to avoid tackles while carrying the ball, the cross-step.

When running with the ball always keep the ball close to you. A quick look around you, as you go, is the first thing you should do where your teammates and the opposing players are situated. Get the sense of the play, and then, depending on the situation, you are going to take one of two steps: the cross-step or the side-step.

THE CROSS-STEP is used when you are being tackled from the side. It is a move that you make with your feet, and it is a move that you make with your body. When you are being tackled from the side, you are going to take a step with your right foot, and then you are going to take a step with your left foot. This is the cross-step.

One you have the ball, and are running to the open field, the ball must be carried under your arm. Always keep the ball close to you. One of the best ways to carry the ball is to carry it under your arm, and then you are going to take a step with your right foot, and then you are going to take a step with your left foot. This is the cross-step.

Now about running with the ball. A ball-carrier's objective is to cross the opposing goal line, and while striving to attain that objective, to drive for yards, struggle for feet and fight for inches. Of course, the

Why the Weather?

By Helen A. H. Thomson
Belleville Herald Meteorologist
Water vapor distribution is the most important factor in the formation of our atmosphere, but the principal source of it is the ocean. The water in the ocean is constantly being heated by the sun, and this heat is transferred to the air. The air then carries the water vapor to the land, where it is deposited as rain or snow. This process is the source of all the water in the atmosphere, and it is the reason why the weather is so variable.

rendered two very fine anthems, Miss M. and H. Robinson of Burnham Presbyterian Church, generously contributed a playing number, Miss Helen Thomas. In the morning and Miss W. Matthews, Burnham, and Miss Helen Thomas, sang very sweetly. "Take my breath in it" was an eventful number. Good attendance at both services. The offering was very gratifying.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, 100 Front Street, Toronto.

THE EUROPEAN SCENE

The European bugle of news continues. Czechoslovakian areas are being handed over to Germany and Poland, President Benes has resigned so as not to constitute a menace to the new conditions which confront his state. British Commons has argued the question of the endorsement of British policy in foreign affairs as carried out in the Munich pact last week and the Prime Minister has been sustained by a large majority, though there was outspoken opposition. To many persons the glow of the announcement of the peace agreement of last Thursday has dimmed somewhat and others appear to believe they can now see more clearly.

The first flash of the news that the world had been saved from war for "our time" and that it was hoped that this would lead to ultimate world peace was accepted by the world as of supreme importance, and yesterday Mr. Chamberlain reaffirmed what peace meant to Europe and the world. Criticism of the agreement on the score of loss of British prestige and the German gains of territory and industry, the problematical stand of Russia on the pact, expression of sympathy for the unfortunate Czechoslovak republic, have been heard. Fears that Germany would turn up with her "Drive-towards-the-east" policy through further agreements or understandings or coercion of buffer states between Germany and Russia have been expressed. Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill has claimed that the pact would be the last chance of averting war that Britain would have. The pact was called a British defeat without fighting, and that a power which was threatened of force can never be trusted to fight in a British democracy. He has urged concentration of effort to reprieve British prestige through the League of Nations, and in her own democracy, and favors the mobilization of industry.

On the other hand Sir John Simon said the pact was recent immediate war and that in the future is never inevitable.

Mr. Chamberlain reaffirmed on Thursday that the world had been saved from destruction, that the republic had not been destroyed, that peace was preserved and that there were good grounds for belief in a coming agreement. The public was assured that Britain did not intend to disarm unless it was a vast British empire. He gave a hint of a vast British empire coupled with a "new spiritual revival." He upheld the view that there might be "a drive for our time," but that to disarm at this time would weaken British diplomacy "because to be successful in diplomacy you must put up with it in strength." He said he did not make new friends at the expense of old ones. Or even at the expense of any.

Everyone realizes that Munich did not settle many other crises, for war has been raging in Palestine, the situation in Spain is not yet changed, though it may change, it is said, the Czechs' all weaknesses of the time and age. Many of such problems remain and there are still Czech crises. Mr. Chamberlain yesterday expressed the view that the way to avoid war and bring war and try to remove them by discussion in the spirit of goodwill. This work has just begun, he said, on a previous occasion.

"HIGH-POWERED"
A despatch tells of robbers holding up two magistrates as they left last night at Ottawa, Illinois, Wednesday, and fleeing with a shipment of $60,000. The despatch added that the robbers escaped with the money.

How fashions of words and outlook have changed! A few years ago, bandits escaped in "high-powered cars" and it was a matter of course that they were "high-powered cars." In the old days when bandits got away people were dazzled at the speed of the bandits' escape and writers used the phrase "high-powered car."

That is gone. All cars with any claim to modernity in construction are "high-powered cars." One now needs to speak of a car as "high-powered."

Today everyone is acquainted with speed. In a few years in the future our present speed will seem slow, when new types of highways appear the absolute of safety.

Who would forget the "high-powered cars" one used to read about in every paper? It was a high-sounding impressive phrase to writers of the 25-cent "news" column. Who invented the phrase?

"In America there is a suddenness of action, entirely unexpected. English progress is more like the dissolving views of an old-fashioned magic lantern."—J. B. Priestley.

"The modern attitude is that one cannot be truly noble, that all great deeds are done by the mob. Why my wife made me promise not to make any advances to you."—Cecil B. DeMille.

MYSELF

I have to live with myself, and so I want to be fit for myself to know; I want to be able to do any day by Always to look myself straight in the eye. I don't want to keep on the closet shelf A lot of secrets about myself, And feel myself as I come and go into thinking that nobody else will know The kind of man I really am. I don't want to dress up myself in sham; I want to go out with my head erect I want to deserve all men's respect; But here in the struggle for fame and wealth I want to be able to like myself. I don't want to stand at end of sun And hate myself for the things I've done. So whatever happens I must be Self-respecting and conscience free.

UNCLE SAM HAS TOO MANY FILIPINOS, the result of too free immigration into California, which has also resulted in being stocked up with too many Chinese and Chinese. When the Philippines were part of the United States Uncle Sam could hardly refuse admission to those young men from the islands of the sea who found ready employment as house servants, and also found favor in the eyes of white girls, according to a Californian Judge who remarked that the Filipino boys, 18 to 30 "boast of enjoying the favors of white girls because they are a very superior grade of lovers." Uncle Sam has been trying to get the Filipinos to return to their native land with little success. Free passage was offered on steamships but only 2,000 of them availed of the offer, while more than 100,000 remain, embracing long farm workers, houseboys, janitors, cooks.

SOME FOLKS DO NOT BELIEVE IN MIRACLES, and some folk do, partially a lot home town Langford, who spluttered down the Atlantic coast from Boston in a $100 puttering broke and without any knowledge of where the next supply of gasoline was coming from. As he was making port at New York, he noticed a fine $75,000 motor car offering. Tax was ordering the trim yacht when the owner appeared, and noticing how tax seemed to admire the craft, said, "How would you like to own her?" "Oh, boy," said tax, "and how?" "She's yours," said the owner, and tax became owner of a dream ship. The owner, who was a truck driver, and tax's dream ship was swept from her moorings and reduced to matchwood. Not so with the owner's car, and it is easier following each other so close, is something, we talk it.

TRAIN ROBBERS IN WESTERN UNITED STATES WERE FAMOUS or infamous, a few years ago, with the James Boys, the Daltons, the Harpers, and his brothers, who are now in Yankeeeland for a long time held all records for robbing trains, but at long last that record has been shattered by continental bandits who stopped a train in France carrying Congo gold to Belgium and decamped with $1,000,000 worth of the metal. The gold was shipped in an ordinary freight train and on an omnibus on board the train when the emergency brakes were applied. Saw the train being swung down they were confronted with armed men, and several shots were fired in the air as a warning. The bandits escaped with their loot.

A magic carpet that takes you, in an instant, to a seat at hilarious comedies, boxing matches, baseball and football games. A magic carpet always at your command, always ready and willing to bear you away from the cares and trials of this workaday world.

EGMONT'S CASTLE HAS BEEN SOLD

Avon Castle, Home of Alberta's 'Farmer Peer'
Brings $378,800

London, Oct. 13 (CP) — Avon Castle, ancestral home of the Earl of Egmont, Alberta's "farmer peer" has been sold to H. J. Colebrook, wealthy London survivor. The pur-

The estate, in one of the most picturesque regions of Hampshire, embraces 1,322 acres, two secondary residences, farms and cottages. Mr. Colebrooke has a large estate in Buckinghamshire where he is master of the New Forest buckhounds. His kennels at Brockhurst are only ten miles from Avon Castle. It is understood the Egmont property will be disposed of later in 1978.

After the courts in 1930 upheld the present Earl's father's claim to the Earldom, the family lived modestly in the castle for several years. They used only half a dozen of the 40 rooms. Six years ago the father was killed in a motor crash. The young Earl foresook the castle, returned to Canada and took up farming.

Later he married Miss Ann Geraldine Moodie, a descendant of the Royal Stuarts of Scotland. They paid a brief visit to England early this year when arrangements were made to dispose of the estate.

Tommy Daley scored three touchdowns as Rough Riders swamped Hamilton Tigers 42-6 at Hamilton and Ar. West got two as Argonauts breezed past Montreal Cubs 35-2. Ab Bost led Toronto Balmy Beach to an 18-2 victory over Peterborough Orions scoring or leading the way to all his team's points with fine passing and punting.

FORMER RESIDENTS HONORED

Citizens and former residents of Belleville have reason to be proud of two well known public persons, Miss Jean Gunn, O.B.E., whose work in hospital and in nursing has made her known over the continent, and Prof. William R. Graham, of Guelph, the noted poultry expert at the Ontario Agricultural College, whose efforts at stock improvement have put millions of dollars into the pockets of the fowls of Ontario, according to President Gode of the University of Toronto. A few days ago Miss Gunn and Prof. Graham were among the eleven persons honored with doctor's degrees from the provincial university.

Their lives can well be an inspiration to the girls and boys of today. Both have made noble contributions to the life of this country, and their examples should be models for those who are looking towards the future in which to carve out their destiny.

AN ECONOMIC INSTITUTE FOR PEACE

King Leopold of Belgium, at the dedication of a memorial to his father, King Albert, in Brussels, has proposed the establishment of an economic institute for peace based upon economic realities. He pleaded for the removal of the economic causes of wars, and favored an institute of nations to be set to work on the economic obstacles which threaten peace. He it is said favors a world economic organization, conveniently called the League of Nations, to constantly ever changing economic needs. He would have it free from politics, universal in appeal, and free from governments.

The young King is a hard worker who takes his position as one of great responsibility as well as of opportunity. He is a monarch like the northern democratic monarchies he is sharply differentiated from the dictators, who use a formula alone—the only one dictators know, obsequiousness through themselves. Young King Leopold would start the world again in a democratic way.

Principles of this kind may seem almost frail as set against the iron forces of dictator lands, yet it need not be surprising if his plan should in the long run succeed, while that of the dictators, which seem so distasteful to those who have once experienced the liberty enjoyed in democracies, will fail because they will be of one man while that which would create an economic organization for the world counts upon and requires freedom of opinion. In the one case it is a living organism, in the other it is a living organism to be adjusted itself to ever changing conditions.

It is not only a plan for looks not so much to governments but to the backing of great social and philanthropic organizations as well as religious denominations.

POPE'S CREATOR DIES

Creator of the comic strip "Popeye the Sailor" is dead. He was one of the great comic artists who have made a large place for themselves in comics. From a start as motion picture projectionist, he moved to house painting, sign painting and paper hanging. He was versatile as a musician and as photographer, but all the while he was thinking of cartooning.

At last he made a heroic start at this without any previous training. He did not at first succeed and he took a correspondence course in this subject. Finally he found himself. He had breadth of interest, which he showed by adding new characters in his work on newspapers. He obtained fame with the "Thimble Theatre. His hit in "Popeye" was surprisingly sudden.

In the full flush of his life in comics, "Popeye the Sailor" is bereaved. His creator, only 44 when he died.

Seeger drew most of his characters out of his imagination. It is the world of his imagination.

VANDALISM

So often one sees the hand of the vandal destroying what really is his own property or at least that of the municipality, to which he contributes. Today in New York City, to consider the destruction of nearly a quarter million dollar damage to playgrounds and equipment in parks even.

It is not only large cities which have evidences of anti-social attitude on the part of a small portion of their population. THOUGH FRIENDS BE FICKLE

Though friends be fickle as a hiring's tears, And for a purse, a song, a flitting eye, Will shun the shore they united to enter by, And stob the love they nursed for precious years, There is one comradeship that soothes and cheers, And never withers; in the lakes and sky, Hushed fountains, and ravines where waters cease, And the green vastness where the rock-crens rear, One may find constancy, and hear the psalm Of that old friendliness which no man's mood Of floating or of ever morer.

For the wise hills are always firm and calm. The canyon gives true shore one's solitude, And truth burns brightly from the faithful stars.

Stanton A. Coblenz in New York Times.

BRINGING UP FATHER

When I was a boy of 14, my father was so ignorant I could hardly stand to have the old man around. But when I got to be 21, I was astonished at how much the old man had learned in seven years. — Mark Twain.

PREVENTION IS BETTER THAN CURE—

And that's the reason for Fire Protection Week. Belleville firemen, under direction of Chief Lynch, have made a thorough inspection of possible fire hazards, and have issued recommendations for better protection against the possible outbreak and spread of fire. In an age of gasoline where so much inflammable and explosive material is stored on every hand, and familiarity with danger has bred contempt, it is advisable to provide all possible protection and the idea of Fire Protection Week is good. City Council might devote a few hours to ascertaining if every possible precaution is being taken to prevent fires of possible large proportions. Remembering that it was the simple kick of a cow, so legend says, that started the disastrous fire that practically wiped Chicago off the map a number of years ago.

THE "HAPPY WANDERER" IS THE title

occupied by a blind man who visits Belleville occasionally in his endless tour of Canada. He is well dressed and clean, grey-haired, and seems most cheerful and content. Saturday he entertained passersby with his piano-accompanied, at the entrance of the footbridge ground. As an extra attraction he had a choir of young Belleville girls singing to his accompaniment. The girls, who happened to be together for some holiday purpose, were attracted by the accordion playing and contributing their good deed for the day began singing the tunes he was playing to the great delight of a large crowd which gathered. The girls sang "The Maple Leaf Forever, Springtime in the Rockies and other popular ballads and hymns and the choir rattled persistently in the box provided for the purpose, giving the Happy Wanderer cause to be happier than ever. The incident was out of the ordinary and very pleasing to those fortunate enough to witness the scene and listen to the fresh young voices in the songs we all like to hear.

SURE CURE

Doctor: "Take these powders as directed, and your cold will be gone in two or three days." Patient: "You seem quite horse, doctor." Doctor: "Yes, I've had a bad cold for a Month now."

SILLY PROVERBS

Lady of the House: "Why don't you get a dog? Don't you know a rolling stone gathers no moss?"

Trump: "Madame, not to evade your question at all, merely to obtain information, may I ask of what practical utility is moss to a man in my condition?"

AFTER BLOOD

The taxi came to a halt. The fare descended and proceeded to search his pockets. "Sorry, old man," he said finally, "but I don't carry any money."

Then, seeing that the driver was not taking it too well, he added: "That's the position, old man, and you can't get blood out of a stone."

"No," agreed the driver, rolling up his sleeves; "but what makes you think you're a stone?"

POSITION

"Take care of your own dear," said the public speaker's wife, as her husband set off for an open-air meeting.

"Yes, yes, I will," he answered. "That's right," she said, still anxious, and remember, don't stand with you bare head on the damp ground."

CHANGING CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Czechoslovakia is no more as it was to a short time ago. Lapped of territory and faced with new alignments, the dividing republic may swing into the orbit of Hitler and Mussolini. Hitler has pointed out that the republic will have a brighter future within the security of the Reich than ever in its independence since as existed up to a few weeks ago.

That country joined together out of pieces of the old "Austro-Hungarian" Empire just twenty years ago. It was a patchwork of the little republic one of the most advanced states in Europe. She is pared down to but a part of what she once was, and the pressure of problems will call for as much effort in the future but appearances would seem to indicate that Germany has not let the chance slip to influence the course of her national life and that the state may follow the line of least resistance. The Sudeten Germans who wanted more security in the Reich even if they lost more individual liberty have secured what they wanted and the others of the population of the state will feel some diminution in freedom of thought and independence of view if Germany directs its future.

OCTOBER

October has excelled most of the months of the year so far in its excellent weather. Lovers of nature have had opportunity to witness under ideal conditions of light and warmth the magnificent panorama of the passing of the season of growth as it is written against the gray sky. In the early days it is a glory of coloring. Whatever weather the remaining days of the month hold out for him, he should be grateful for what he has just enjoyed. He has lived in the midst of beauty, whether his be the smallest cottage or the mansion; the streets, the woodland, have been dressed in splendid array by the master painter of the seasons. Those born in this month are entitled to wear the opal as a gem and in many ways the opal stone suits the season in its endless variety of changes from its green, with which the month began, to the fiery scarlet, on to the russet brown. The skies themselves seem opal in their pearly grey. There is the boded speed along the stream and there remains hope of another spring in the stately evergreens which retain their virgin color.

October is like a halfway house for the year. Such a lovely time is repeated in another time of the year—the time when changes to spring. The changes from spring to summer and from summer to autumn have not the appeal of the changes near equinoctial seasons, when nature is ready to burst into leaf, and to go to sleep until winter's storms.

This year October temperature ran high and cooled out the flies from their hiding places. In many homes, however, followed the invitation of the highway in quest for pleasure, have sat in shirt sleeves in parks in a month usually cold enough to forbid such activity.

With all the bounty of good which this month has given man, there still is the desire in people's hearts for more of this good thing and so on to the end of the month and past it, for then men will still be wondering if we are not yet to have Indian Summer.

DEVELOPING CONTINENT

One of the marvels of the New World has been the development of the west. No great saga can be written than that of Canada and the United States. The greater responses of virgin land were made part of two, that coast to coast is linked to coast, Atlantic to Pacific Ocean. The two tracts of land are impressive in the history of civilization. Nothing like it has been recorded before. It is a people might take a whole world into for the sake of a little territory. It has not had the opportunity for expansion and development as have Canada and the United States in their western areas. Nowhere in all the world could such lands have been found. To these two countries' destiny, nature have been kind.

Only in the age of exploration, together with trains, and telegraphs, could such gains to the civilization of the countries have been made an integral part so rapidly. Alexander the Great went to the borders of India conquering but as soon as he was left to the American nations as is guaranteed in the American nations. Their western area is part of themselves.

The latest development is the express airplane. Trans-Canada Airlines have just inaugurated a service across the Dominion. With so much attention given to the plane from the standpoint of military and civil progress, it is easy to realize that the West will continue to develop and play its part in the progress of the continent.

HAVE YOU NOTICED THE BIRDS GETTING TOGETHER in flocks, apparently holding conventions to decide when to leave for the South, and where to spend the winter months—or something interesting to think about the instincts of the birds. We know that the same birds return year after year to the same places, but do they know where to come? Another question raised by bird-lovers: Do the birds fly night and day on their flight south? Montreal Gazette editorial comments upon imminent departure of the birds as follows:

The birds come north in the spring and go south in the autumn, and no one knows for certain how it is that they find their way to the same places year after year. Some of the swiftest travel the furthest, at varying rates of speed. Most of the little ones make 20 and more miles an hour, while a few of the largest can go 100. Ducks can travel 60. Just now most of the migratory ones are getting ready for their winter migration. The robins have almost cleaned the mountain ash of berries, which is a sign that these pleasant songsters may depart at any moment. Crows are cawing and some of these days they will return around the highest tree of a neighborhood, make a tremendous clatter and then mysteriously disappear, not to return until March, when the robins. As William Cullen Bryant puts it:

The robin and the wren are flown, and from the shrubs the jay,
And from the wood-top call the crow through all the gloomy day.
The same American poet, who gathered a library of all he considered best in English poetry, told a story of family life in "Robert of Lincoln," the bob-o-link, concluding with:

Summer wanes; the children are growing;
Fun and frolic no more he knows;
Robert of Lincoln's a broken crown;
Off he flies, and we sing as he goes:
"Bob-o-link, bob-o-link,
Spink, spink, spink!"

When you can pine that merry old strain Robert of Lincoln came back again.
With respect to the migration, Gulliver, a French poet, in his "Departure of the Swallow," said:

The raindrops plash, and the dead leaves fall,
On oaks and oaks and oaks and oaks;
The swallows gather, and twitter and call;
"We must follow the summer, come one, come all,
For the winter is now so cold."

William Howitt, the English poet, also paid tribute to the swallow, asking:

And is the swallow gone?
Who beheld it?

Do the birds which take their flight to warmer climes as cold weather approaches travel only in the night, so far as the city is concerned they are here today and gone tomorrow. He may notice the preparatory excitement, but suddenly there is silence in the treetops. It is nature's chain of command, but the chain holds, as Pope says in his "Essay on Man":

See matter melt with various life endued.
Press to one centre still, the general good.
See dying vegetables life sustain,
See life dissolving vegetative again.

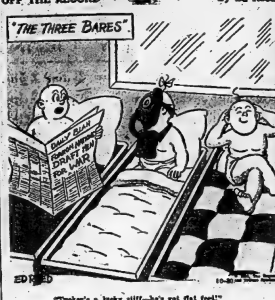

All forms that perish others forms supply.
When field life in this northern climate disappears before winter, first birds will return in the spring when life vegetates once more. Meanwhile the cheerful if impudently English sparrows stay with us throughout the months of snow and cold. He and his mate are hardy Canadians who deserve to be given their winter breakfast of breadcrumbs from the kitchen door.

TOM LONGBOAT, F.A.M.O.S. INDIAN RUNNER, has been located as a member of the street cleaning staff of the city of Toronto. Tom is a Mohawk Indian who married a white woman some years ago, and was renowned for Canada in England and the United States. Time was when Tom Longboat was a hero of the hour and was met at the Union Station, Toronto, by cheering thousands. Tom made friends rapidly and became acquainted with such men as John Burroughs, too well acquainted, too friendly, and his fairweather friends assisted. Tom liked to spend money freely and was glad to help him, with the same old result. Get up, Tom, John sit down—down, down, to the bottom, and a generation which knew not Tom Longboat.

Although men are accused of not knowing their own weakness, yet perhaps a few know their own strength. It is in men as in animals, where weakness there is a vein of gold which the owner knows not of. Swift.

"Save Tears; Laugh It Off" Good Slogan

(By HELEN FOLLETT)

LOW SPIRIT are the enemy of beauty; no woman can afford to indulge in them. When good Queen Vic was a girl, the melancholy beauty had her fling. What a terrible bore she must have made of herself. "Crystal tears like dew drops on the cheek," said the old saying, "will ruin the complexion." And that was the way we call it, and that's what it was then. Today's slogan is "Save your tears; laugh it off." We're told that the Queen has forgotten how to cry, she has become among us. They are running away from their youth at a fast pace, and we're old before we're middle-aged again. They'll gather more wrinkles than you'll find in a yard of crepe, and still care "m m right."

And spirits lower the vitality of the body. Everything slows up, digestive processes, circulation, body

Why pull down the lip ends, furrow the brow, dull the eyes with depressing thoughts? Troubles don't care who has them. We all have them. The whiner is a coward, trying to pass her load on other people's shoulders. Half the time she's thinking about nothing at all. She can throw her cosmetics out of the window. They can't help her.

Pouches under the eyes are often caused by nerve tension and digestive upsets. Anything that saps the vitality and softens facial tissues will bring fullness under the pretty parkers.

Bathe the eyes with hot water, then with cold. Dip a piece of gauze in witch hazel place over the eyes. Rub ice over the gauze. Follow with light friction with an eyelid cream.

WHEN potting hyacinths for indoor blooms this winter, select only heavy, well-ripened, bulbs. Examine them carefully to make sure they are free from blight. Use a potting mixture consisting of fibrous loam, well decayed cow manure and sand.

After potting the bulbs place the pot on a board and frame it in the open set in ashes as shown in the Garden-Graph. Cover the bulb either with fibre or soil to protect them from frost and to keep them in the dark. To protect the new growth as it develops, place a smaller flower pot over each pot of bulbs, as illustrated.

“Goodnight Stories”

By MAX KRAFT
 "IT WASN'T ME," he said as Knarf, the shadowy boy, cowered across the garden. He sprang over the pod-dies and kept out of the mud and finally reached the top of the garden wall. Then he calmed out at the birds. "It was I, I tell you! 'Rabbis! Squared! Birds! Grassoopers! Listen to me! I know a place where it's nice and dry. Where are you?"

"Where?" asked Knarf. "I heard a hoarse voice saying: 'Here!'"

Knarf peered around. "Where's here?" he asked, seeing no one. "I know a place where it's nice and dry. Where are you?"

The garden wall... on a rock, the hoarse voice answered, Knarf sprang down and saw a shadowed place of a rock. He discovered a floor sitting on it.

"I know a nice dry place where you can stay until the rain stops. It's not like the house, it's not like the house. Come with me. I'll take you there."

"But I like this house."

"But I like the house where you like it."

We tried to pull the frog's leg by the frog hopped out. Knarf went by and sat down under a mushroom. And by a beetle came along. "Mind if I rest here for a bit?" asked Knarf. "No," said the beetle. "On my way to market. Fine day, isn't it?"
"It's raining," said Knarf. "I'm not fine at all."
The beetle demands on how you look at it. Now take me, for instance. I think it's fine when it rains. So do my friends, the earthworms. They would be sick as dogs if it didn't rain. Unless it rains, they can't walk unless it rains. And then there are the ducks. You never heard a duck complain about the rain, did you?"
Knarf said, "I'm off again. Ood afternoon to you. And I hope keeps on raining."
Knarf got off wet, leaving Knarf as puzzled as ever.

Czechs Pray at Shrine of Masaryk

Czech peasants kneel devoutly in prayer before the simple shrine of Thomas Masaryk, first president of the republic of Czechoslovakia and seek divine guidance to lead them through the tragic days which have befallen the republic. After the Munich conference settled the Czech-German crisis, villagers from the surrounding districts visited Masaryk's grave to pray and place bunches of wild flowers. No stone marks the grave—only a plain stone oil lamp that is always burning. Around the shrine are the graves of other citizens of Lány. Masaryk insisted that no special marks distinguish his grave from those of his fellow townspeople.

Daily Express Sees No Justification To Refuse Return To Germany

London, Oct. 21 (CP-Havas) Great Britain no longer has "moral justification" for refusing to return Germany's pre-war colonies, the Daily Express (Independent) agreed today in recommendations for a "redistribution in Africa."

The newspaper declared editorially: "It is plain that the future of the former German colonies held in mandate by Britain imposes upon us an obligation to examine moral issues involved. These colonial territories do form a part of the British Empire in taking them from the Germans. We did not incorporate them in our own colonial possessions. We are trustees, not owners. We are dealing with an estate. We cannot give that the Germans, with whom they have made a special treaty the Munich pact, are unsuitable for native races. Accordingly, we have no longer any moral justification for withholding colonies from them."

The Story of OD and AD

and the AUTOMOBILE

OD and AD were machinists many years ago. One day, at a fair, they saw a buggy with an engine in it. They saw many ways to improve it, and each decided to build an automobile. But when it came time to sell their first cars, OD and AD had different ideas.

How OD Tried to Sell His First Automobile

OD invited all his friends and neighbors to his house. He drove his automobile around the block and gave them a ride. They were thrilled. They wanted to buy it. But when they learned that it cost $3,000, not one of OD's friends could pay such a high price.

How AD Sold 10 Automobiles

AD had also spent nearly $3,000 in building his first car. He knew that only a few people could afford so high a price, and to find them he must show his car to a great many. So he advertised that he would demonstrate his car the following Saturday afternoon. People came from miles around. AD ran his car up and down the street. Afterward, ten men wanted it. AD told them that by making ten cars he could cut costs and reduce his price to $2,500. So he hired several men, rented a building, and started making more and better automobiles.

How OD Finally Sold a Car

OD heard that AD had sold ten cars, so he decided to try again. When his second car was finished, it had cost him almost as much as the first. He showed it to as many people as he could see and after a long time sold it for just about what it had cost him. In the next five years OD built several more automobiles, but always by the time his cars were finished AD was making better cars for lower prices.

How AD Sold 10,000 Automobiles

AD decided that if he could make cars by the hundred, he could lower the cost and add still more improvements. So he appointed agents and advertised in other cities. In this way he was able to tell the story of his car to thousands and thousands of people neither he nor his agents had ever seen. The more agents he appointed, and the more he advertised, the more people came in to try his car, and the more cars he sold. And the more cars he built, the better he built them, and the less they cost.

By 1911, AD was making such a good car for $1,500 that he sold 10,000 that year.

Why OD Gave Up Trying to Sell Automobiles

OD now saw that he could not possibly make cars at low cost by building only a few each year. Nor could he sell enough to make more by telling people about them one at a time. So he decided to go back to work as a machinist. He applied at AD's factory and was promptly employed.

How AD Sold Millions of Automobiles

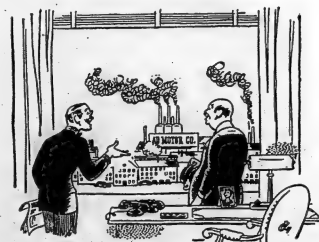

AD now realized that there were millions of people who would buy his automobiles if the prices were only lower. He also knew that if he could build hundreds of thousands of cars a year, he could make them better and at less cost. So he enlarged his factory, employed more men, and advertised to millions of people all over the country. By 1921, he was making a fine-looking car with a six-cylinder motor and a self-starter. And the price had been reduced to $1,000.

AD's profit per car was now very small. But he sold so many cars that his business was successful. And, as prices became lower and lower, millions of people who had never dreamed they could afford automobiles were able to own and enjoy them.

By 1938, AD was making the best and finest looking car he had ever built—and the price was only $750.

AD Tells OD How It Came About That So Many Families Now Have Automobiles

ONE DAY OD went into AD's office at the factory. OD said, "Remember the time we saw the horseless carriage at the fair? Who would have believed that in 30 years almost every family would have an automobile!"

AD said, "It never would have been possible without advertising. All the advances in manufacturing would have been futile without advertising to tell the story. As it helped us to sell more and more cars, we were able to make them still better and sell them at lower prices. As a result, the advantages of an automobile are now enjoyed by people of small means just as they are by the well-to-do."

"But you spend millions for advertising," said OD.

"Yes," said AD. "But we sell so many cars that our advertising costs only about $15 per car. That is not much when you remember that in 30 years the average price of a car has been reduced by more than $1,500. So, advertising has really helped to reduce prices and year after year has helped make it possible for millions of people to have better cars for less money."

[Car prices given above for 1911, 1921, and 1938 are the approximate average of new car prices in those years.]

Ernest Kuhrig, RIGHT, one of four persons arrested for alleged espionage activities at the Panama Canal, is shown here en route to face a preliminary hearing. Kuhrig and three others, one of whom is a woman, are charged with taking photographs of military fortifications. His defendants, a German, are employees of a steamship company, while Kuhrig is employed as a typewriter salesman above.

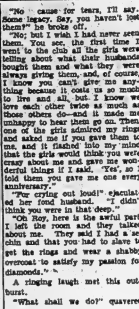

The camera catches an excellent example of running interference as used in the American game. Fordham was playing Oregon at the time and it's Fordham's ball. Hearn (13) at the left is seen taking the ball from half-back Kasto, while in front of him practically the entire Fordham backfield is seen preparing to run interference. Sparshead of the interference is Yaddisille (18) seen at the top center, bulging the Oregon tackle (outside wing) out the way to open a hole. While the left end of the Oregon line bulges to give chase to the ball carrier, the Fordham right (outside wing), facing right the right, can be seen sneaking back to the line to help the backside players who may be in the way of the man with the ball.

She wore a severe gown of pavy blue satin. In contrast to her simple attire, her left hand literally blazed with diamonds in the golden light.

Her partner obtained the bid.

"Since I'm dummy, I'll run upstairs and get my kerchief, if you don't mind, Mary."

"Go on and then you can't criticize my play," answered the amiable Myrr.

No sooner had Dee's little figure made its way among the tables to the hall, than the substitute at her table leaned forward breathlessly.

"Who gorgeous rings!"

"Yes, aren't they marvelous! She's had three since she was married. Her husband gives her one every anniversary. That's four, counting her engagement ring," supplied Minor, eloquently.

"They must have money," suggested the sub.

"But my dear, they haven't. Here they, Mary!"

And now the two men were

MAY BONE REPLIES TO PRESIDENT OF TEACHERS' ASSOC.

OPINIONS UPHELD

Exception is taken by Mayor James Bone to the report of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Association, which was published in the Ontario Star on Saturday last, in which he declared that Mayor Bone's figure on second salary was "all wrong." It was much intended in reading Mr. Bone's remarks in the Daily Ontario Intelligencer, declared Mayor Bone this morning. "Apparently as president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Association, the Ontario Star, which is a newspaper published in this city, is in a position to make a statement which is so much more important than mine as to what is the correct figure."

As for the statement that Mayor Bone's figure was "all wrong," Mayor Bone said that he was not a teacher, and that he was not a member of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Association. He said that he was not a teacher, and that he was not a member of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Association.
